ACTIVITIES:

We believe that having fun at work is important not just in creating a positive team environment, but also in raising morale, boosting confidence and reducing staff turnover.

Having fun helps maintain the positive attitude to work that generates commitment and job satisfaction. We focus on:

- Finding creative ways to involve people and work together
- Recognizing individual efforts and team accomplishments
- Managing Stress with Fun

We offer self-learning and team bonding activities with a difference. Most of our teambuilding games require out-of-the-norm settings, away from the rigid workstations, structured boardroom tables or classroom/theatre-style arrangements.

Through having fun together, team members gain more in-depth understanding of each other that eventually helps in managing differences in personality styles, and adds to the greater cohesiveness within an organization.

TRAINING PROGRAMS:

At TAB, we look at Training need identification as the most important part of Employee Engagement Process. We invest considerable time & effort in understanding & identification of learner's needs and defining alignment between training needs and business objectives.

Our Training Programs help in improving and maintaining the quality and productivity of both the employee and the company. The Training Workshop comprises of classroom training and activity based learning that further helps employees implement the course ware in their daily routines.

Our Training intervention does not end with the delivery of the module; we believe reorientation of any training intervention is the key to a long term association with our Clients.

TRAINING TEAM:

We have a team of NIS SPARTA Certified Trainers who are competent and have the skill to conduct a wide range of Behavioral & Soft Skills Training Program. They represent expertise from across industries and academic fields & are focused in developing solutions catering to diverse training needs.

For every program, trainers work closely with our content developers to deliver the practical & measurable training solutions. Therefore, we work in partnership with your organization to enhance your training support system and improve the organizational processes.
